

ELLIS Academic

Brief Product Description

ELLIS Academic is a technology-driven English Language Development program designed for students from middle, high school to adult education, addressing the needs from true beginners to more advanced learners through 5 modules: Basics, Intro, Middle Mastery, Senior Mastery and Master Pronunciation. The program can be delivered online* or on a local network and is a good choice for lab-based or distance-learning instruction.

In addition to the software, ELLIS Academic program provides supplemental resources for educators and students such as an Instructor Guide, Student Workbooks, parent-teacher pre-translated letters and classroom activities to complement the instruction.

Key Features and Benefits

- Individualized and prescriptive instruction through computer adaptive placement test and lesson navigation at student's own pace.
- Contextualized video-based lessons: content is presented in a multimedia format combining digital audio and video with authentic samples of spoken language
- Integrated skills presentation in Listening, Vocabulary, Grammar, Pronunciation and Communication.
- Several learning supports such as repetition slow audio functionality, native language translation (of new content and activities' instructions), voice recording and comparison to native speaker and role play.
- Student progress is measured through embedded assessment and reporting features.
- Home connection can be established with Students' Workbooks and Letters to Parents on their native language.
- Flexibility in deployment (online)*: can be delivered through the web allowing access to students and administrators any time, any place.